On 4 January 1955, the Hindenburg Kaserne (8253) in Leipzig was occupied by an estimated 400 to 500 soldiers, wearing blue-bordered black epaulets and, a few, black-bordered black epaulets without branch of service insignia. It appeared that the air force unit previously stationed there had departed leaving only rear elements. 25X1

Comment. Shipments between Potsdam and Leipzig which were observed during the period from 26 November to 4 December and observations in the Wildpark-West kaserno (2293) near Potsdam indicated that an army signal unit of the GSFG from Potsdam-Wildpark exchanged quarters with an air force construction unit in Leipzig. The present observations confirm and supplement this assumption.
